Student Reflection on Writing Consultation

Many students benefit from taking a few minutes to write a brief reflection on what happened during their writing consultation. They find that such reflection helps them clarify and remember what was discussed and articulate the next steps in their writing processes.

This document provides you, the writer, with a place to do this reflecting. You are welcome to use this document in whatever ways you find useful. Please note that this document does not signify proof of an appointment nor approval from a writing consultant. Writing consultants will NOT sign this form as proof of a visit. If your instructor has requested visit confirmation, please direct them to writing.umn.edu/sws/instructors.html.

When did you visit the Center for Writing’s Student Writing Support (SWS) program?

What assignment or project did you come in to work on, and when is it due?

What goals did you have for your consultation?

Summarize what happened in the session. What did you find particularly useful?

What are your plans for further writing and revision (on this project and/or on future projects)?
